1. Text of the Proposed Rule Change

- (a) Pursuant to the provisions of Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the “Act”)¹ and Rule 19b-4 thereunder,² NYSE American LLC (“NYSE American” or the “Exchange”) proposes to amend the NYSE American Options Fee Schedule (“Fee Schedule”) regarding the Options Regulatory Fee (“ORF”).

A notice of the proposed rule change for publication in the Federal Register is attached hereto as Exhibit 1, and the text of the proposed rule change is attached as Exhibit 5.

- (b) The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will have any direct effect, or any significant indirect effect, on any other Exchange rule in effect at the time of this filing.
- (c) Not applicable.

2. Procedures of the Self-Regulatory Organization

Senior management has approved the proposed rule change pursuant to authority delegated to it by the Board of the Exchange. No further action is required under the Exchange’s governing documents. Therefore, the Exchange’s internal procedures with respect to the proposed rule change are complete.

3. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

- (a) Purpose

The Exchange proposes to amend the Fee Schedule to temporarily decrease the ORF from $0.0038 per contract to $0.0023 per contract, effective July 16, 2025.³

Background

² 17 CFR 240.19b-4.

³ On July 1, 2025, the Exchange filed to amend the Fee Schedule (NYSEAMER-2025-39) and withdrew such filing on July 16, 2025.

As a general matter, the Exchange may only use regulatory funds such as the ORF “to fund the legal, regulatory, and surveillance operations” of the Exchange.⁴ More specifically, the ORF is designed to recover a material portion, but not all, of the Exchange’s costs for the supervision and regulation of ATP Holders, including the Exchange’s regulatory program and legal expenses associated with options regulation, such as the costs related to in-house staff, third-party service providers, and technology that facilitate regulatory functions such as surveillance, investigation, examinations, and enforcement (collectively, the “ORF Costs”). ORF funds may also be used for indirect expenses such as human resources and other administrative costs. The Exchange monitors the amount of revenue collected from the ORF to ensure that this revenue, in combination with other regulatory fees and fines, does not exceed regulatory costs.

The ORF is assessed on ATP Holders for options transactions that are cleared by the ATP Holder through the Options Clearing Corporation (“OCC”) in the Customer range regardless of the exchange on which the transaction occurs and is collected from ATP Holder clearing firms by the OCC on behalf of NYSE American.⁵ All options transactions must clear via a clearing firm and such clearing firms can then choose to pass through all, a portion, or none of the cost of the ORF to its customers, i.e., the entering firms. The Exchange notes that the costs relating to monitoring ATP Holders with respect to Customer trading activity are generally higher than the costs associated with monitoring ATP Holders that do not engage in Customer trading activity, which tends to be more automated and less labor-intensive. By contrast, regulating ATP Holders that engage in Customer trading activity is generally more labor intensive and requires a greater expenditure of human and technical resources as the Exchange needs to review not only the trading activity on behalf of Customers, but also the ATP Holder’s relationship with its Customers via more labor-intensive exam-based programs.⁶ As a result, the costs associated with administering the customer component of the Exchange’s overall regulatory program are materially higher than the costs associated with administering the non-customer component (e.g., ATP Holder proprietary transactions) of its regulatory program.

⁵ See Fee Schedule, Section VII.A., Options Regulatory Fee (“ORF”), available here, https://www.nyse.com/publicdocs/nyse/markets/american-options/NYSE_American_Options_Fee_Schedule.pdf. The Exchange uses reports from OCC when assessing and collecting the ORF. The ORF is not assessed on outbound linkage trades. An ATP Holder is not assessed the fee until it has satisfied applicable technological requirements necessary to commence operations on NYSE American. See id.

⁶ The Exchange notes that many of the Exchange’s market surveillance programs require the Exchange to look at and evaluate activity across all options markets, such as surveillance for position limit violations, manipulation, front-running, and contrary exercise advice violations/expiring exercise declarations. The Exchange and other options SROs are parties to a 17d-2 agreement allocating among the SROs regulatory responsibilities relating to compliance by the common members with rules for expiring exercise declarations, position limits, OCC trade adjustments, and Large Option Position Report reviews. See, e.g., Securities Exchange Act Release No. 85097 (February 11, 2019), 84 FR 4871 (February 19, 2019).

Because the ORF is based on options transactions volume, the amount of ORF collected is variable. For example, if options transactions reported to OCC in a given month increase, the ORF collected from ATP Holders will likely increase as well. Similarly, if options transactions reported to OCC in a given month decrease, the ORF collected from ATP Holders will likely decrease as well. Accordingly, the Exchange monitors the amount of ORF collected to ensure that it does not exceed a material portion of ORF Costs. If the Exchange determines the amount of ORF collected exceeds or may exceed a material portion of ORF Costs, the Exchange will, as appropriate, adjust the ORF by submitting a fee change filing to the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “Commission”). Exchange rules establish that market participants must be notified of any change in the ORF via Trader Update at least 30 calendar days prior to the effective date of the change.⁷

Proposed Rule Change

Based on the Exchange’s recent review of regulatory costs, ORF collections, and options transaction volume, the Exchange proposes to temporarily decrease the amount of ORF collected from $0.0038 per contract to $0.0023 per contract, effective July 1, 2025.⁸ This proposed decrease will help ensure that the amount collected from the ORF, in combination with other regulatory fees and fines, does not exceed the Exchange’s total regulatory costs. On May 30, 2025, the Exchange notified ATP Holders of the proposed change via Trader Update (i.e., at least 30 calendar days prior to the July 1st operative date) to afford market participants sufficient opportunity to configure their systems to account properly for the modified ORF.⁹

The proposed change to the ORF is based on the Exchange’s analysis of recent options volumes and its regulatory costs. The Exchange believes that, if the ORF is not adjusted, the ORF revenue to the Exchange year over year could exceed a material portion of the Exchange’s ORF Costs. Over the past few years, the options industry has experienced high options trading volumes and volatility and, although the Exchange waived the ORF for the last two months of 2024,¹⁰ the persisting increased options volumes have impacted the Exchange’s ORF collection.

The table below reflects industry data from OCC and illustrates that both total average daily volume and customer average daily volume in 2025 increased over the already elevated levels in 2023 and 2024.¹¹

⁷ See Fee Schedule, supra note 5.

⁸ The Exchange proposes to have an automatic sunset of the proposed fee on December 31, 2025. See proposed Fee Schedule, Section VII.A., Options Regulatory Fee (“ORF”).

⁹ See <https://www.nyse.com/trader-update/history#110000949347>.

¹⁰ See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 101866 (December 10, 2024), 89 FR 101674 (December 16, 2024) (SR-NYSEAMER-2024-63) (Notice of Filing and Immediate Effectiveness of a Proposed Rule Change To Amend the NYSE American Options Fee Schedule To Modify the Options Regulatory Fee).

¹¹ The OCC publishes options and futures volume in a variety of formats, including daily and monthly volume by exchange, available here: <https://www.theocc.com/Market-Data/Market-Data-Reports/Volume->

	2023	2024	2025 YTD
Customer ADV	35,327,417	39,365,049	46,831,086
Total ADV	40,368,590	44,360,426	53,043,204

In addition, as shown in the table below, during 2025, options trading volumes have remained elevated and volatility has persisted.¹²

	Jan. 2025	Feb. 2025	Mar. 2025	Apr. 2025	May 2025
Customer ADV	46,758,284	48,508,333	46,281,134	47,786,196	46,234,519
Total ADV	53,134,932	54,563,396	53,182,376	55,339,630	51,351,579

Because of the sustained impact of the trading volumes that have persisted through mid-2025, along with the difficulty of predicting whether and when volumes may return to historical levels, the Exchange proposes to temporarily decrease the ORF from July 1 through December 31, 2025, to help ensure that ORF collection will not exceed ORF Costs for 2025.¹³ The Exchange cannot predict whether options volumes will remain at these levels going forward and projections for future regulatory costs are estimated, preliminary, and may change. However, the Exchange believes that the proposed change to the ORF would allow the Exchange to continue to monitor the amount collected from the ORF to help ensure that ORF collection, in combination with other regulatory fees and fines, does not exceed regulatory costs for 2025.

Potential ORF Reform

The Exchange appreciates the evolving changes in the markets and regulatory environment and, in connection with industry and other feedback, has been evaluating the current methodologies and practices for the assessment and collection of ORF. The Exchange believes ORF reform is appropriate, including moving to a model in which ORF would be assessed only to transactions occurring on the Exchange. This would allow for consistent industry billing. The Exchange is committed to switching to a new, modified model as soon as a consistent framework has been established with the SEC, adopted by all the options exchanges, and necessary regulatory filings submitted. Until and-Open-Interest/Monthly-Weekly-Volume-Statistics. The volume discussed in this filing is based on a compilation of OCC data for monthly volume of equity-based options and monthly volume of ETF-based options, in contract sides.

¹² See id.

¹³ After December 31, 2025, the Exchange proposes that the ORF rate automatically revert to $0.0038 per contract (the “sunset provision”). See proposed Fee Schedule, Section VII.A., Options Regulatory Fee (“ORF”).

that time, the Exchange believes it is fair and reasonable to temporarily decrease the current ORF under the existing model.

The Exchange also believes that the potential for ORF reform provides further support for the sunset provision included in this proposal because it will allow the Exchange to discuss its anticipated, or potential alternative, ORF methodology with ATP Holders between July 1 and December 31, 2025 (i.e., the sunset date).¹⁴

(b) Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 6(b)¹⁵ of the Act, in general, and Section 6(b)(4) and (5)¹⁶ of the Act, in particular, in that it is designed to provide for the equitable allocation of reasonable dues, fees, and other charges among its members and other persons using its facilities and does not unfairly discriminate between customers, issuers, brokers, or dealers.

The Proposal is Reasonable

The Exchange believes the proposed rule change is reasonable because it would help ensure that collections from the ORF do not exceed a material portion of the Exchange's ORF Costs. As noted above, the ORF is designed to recover a material portion, but not all, of the Exchange's ORF Costs.

Although there can be no assurance that the Exchange's final costs for 2025 will not differ materially from its expectations and prior practice, nor can the Exchange predict with certainty whether options volume will remain at current or similar levels going forward, the Exchange believes that the amount collected based on the current ORF rate, when combined with regulatory fees and fines, may result in collections in excess of the estimated ORF Costs for the year. Particularly, as noted above, the options market has continued to experience elevated volumes and volatility in 2025, thereby resulting in higher ORF collections than projected. The Exchange therefore believes that the proposed temporary decrease to the ORF is reasonable because it would help ensure that ORF collection does not exceed the ORF Costs for 2025. Particularly, the Exchange believes that this temporary reduction in the ORF, taken together with the Exchange's other regulatory fees and fines, would allow the Exchange to continue covering a material portion of ORF Costs, while lessening the potential for generating excess funds that may otherwise occur using the current rate. Per the sunset provision, the Exchange proposes to resume assessing its current ORF (i.e., $0.0038 per contract) after December 31, 2025. The Exchange believes that resumption of the ORF at the current rate on January 1, 2026 (unless the Exchange determines it necessary to adjust the ORF rate to help ensure that ORF collections do not exceed ORF Costs) is reasonable because it would permit the ¹⁴ The Exchange notes that the existence of the proposed sunset date would not preclude the Exchange from filing to modify its ORF methodology prior to that date.

¹⁵ 15 U.S.C. 78f(b).

¹⁶ 15 U.S.C. 78f(b)(4) and (5).

Exchange to resume collecting an ORF that is designed to recover a material portion, but not all, of the Exchange's projected ORF Costs. The Exchange's proposal to revert to its current ORF rate after December 31, 2025 is based on the Exchange's estimated projections for its regulatory costs, which are currently projected to increase in 2026, balanced with the increase in options volumes that has persisted into 2025 and that may continue into 2026.

The Exchange will continue to monitor ORF Costs in advance of the sunset date (i.e., December 31, 2025) and, if necessary, based on projected volumes and ORF Costs, will adjust the ORF rate to help ensure that ORF collections would not exceed a material portion of ORF Costs, adjust the ORF by submitting a proposed rule change and notifying ATP Holders of such change by Trader Update.

The Proposal is an Equitable Allocation of Fees

The Exchange believes its proposal is an equitable allocation of fees among its market participants. The Exchange believes that the proposed rule change would not place certain market participants at an unfair disadvantage because it would apply equally to all ATP Holders on all their transactions that clear in the Customer range at the OCC and would allow the Exchange to continue to monitor the amount collected from the ORF to help ensure that ORF collection, in combination with other regulatory fees and fines, does not exceed regulatory costs. The Exchange also believes that reverting to the existing ORF after December 31, 2025, unless the Exchange determines it necessary to adjust the ORF to ensure that ORF collections do not exceed a material portion of ORF Costs, is equitable because the ORF would continue to apply equally to all ATP Holders on options transactions in the Customer range, at a rate designed to recover a material portion, but not all, of the Exchange's projected ORF Costs, based on current projections that such costs will increase in 2026.

The Proposed Fee is Not Unfairly Discriminatory

The Exchange believes that the proposal is not unfairly discriminatory. The Exchange believes that the proposed temporary decrease to the ORF rate would not place certain market participants at an unfair disadvantage because it would apply to all ATP Holders subject to the ORF and would allow the Exchange to continue to monitor the amount collected from the ORF to help ensure that ORF collection, in combination with other regulatory fees and fines, does not exceed regulatory costs. The Exchange also has provided all such ATP Holders with 30 days' advance notice of the planned change to the ORF. Further, the Exchange believes that reverting to the existing ORF after December 31, 2025 (i.e., the sunset date), unless the Exchange determines it necessary to adjust the ORF to ensure that ORF collections do not exceed a material portion of ORF Costs, is not unfairly discriminatory because the Exchange would resume assessing the ORF (at its current rate) equally to all ATP Holders based on their transactions that clear in the Customer range at the OCC.

4. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

Intramarket Competition. The Exchange believes the proposed change would not impose an undue burden on intramarket competition because the ORF is charged to all ATP Holders on all their transactions that clear in the Customer range at the OCC; thus, the amount of ORF imposed is based on the amount of Customer volume transacted. The Exchange believes that the proposed temporary decrease of the ORF would not place certain market participants at an unfair disadvantage because all options transactions must clear via a clearing firm. Such clearing firms can then choose to pass through all, a portion, or none of the cost of the ORF to its customers, i.e., the entering firms. The ORF is collected from ATP Holder clearing firms by the OCC on behalf of the Exchange and is assessed on all options transactions cleared at the OCC in the Customer range.

The Exchange also believes that reverting to the existing ORF after December 31, 2025 (i.e., the sunset date) -- unless the Exchange determines it necessary at that time to adjust the ORF to ensure that ORF collections do not exceed a material portion of ORF Costs -- would not impose an undue burden on competition because it would permit the Exchange to resume assessing an ORF that is designed to recover a material portion, but not all, of the Exchange's projected ORF Costs, based on current projections that such costs will increase in 2026. As is the case today, the proposed reduced ORF rate would apply to all ATP Holders on their options transactions that clear in the Customer range at the OCC, which rate will automatically revert to the current ORF rate after December 31, 2025.

Intermarket Competition. The proposed fee change is not designed to address any competitive issues. Rather, the proposed change is designed to help the Exchange adequately fund its regulatory activities while seeking to ensure that total collections from regulatory fees do not exceed total regulatory costs.

5. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received from Members, Participants or Others

The Exchange has neither solicited nor received written comments on the proposed rule change.

6. Extension of Time Period for Commission Action

Not applicable.

7. Basis for Summary Effectiveness Pursuant to Section 19(b)(3) or for Accelerated Effectiveness Pursuant to Section 19(b)(2)

The foregoing rule change is effective upon filing pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(ii) of the Act¹⁷ and subparagraph (f)(2) of Rule 19b-4¹⁸ because it establishes a due, fee, or other charge imposed by the Exchange. At any time within 60 days of the filing of such proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. If the Commission takes such action, the Commission shall institute proceedings under Section 19(b)(2)(B) of the Act to determine whether the proposed rule change should be approved or disapproved.¹⁹

Self-Regulatory Organizations; NYSE American LLC; Notice of Filing and Immediate Effectiveness of Proposed Change to Amend the NYSE American Options Fee Schedule

Pursuant to Section 19(b)(1)¹ of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (“Act”)² and Rule 19b-4 thereunder,³ notice is hereby given that, on July 16, 2025, NYSE American LLC (“NYSE American” or the “Exchange”) filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “Commission”) the proposed rule change as described in Items I, II, and III below, which Items have been prepared by the self-regulatory organization. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

The Exchange proposes to amend the NYSE American Options Fee Schedule (“Fee Schedule”) regarding the Options Regulatory Fee (“ORF”). The proposed rule change is available on the Exchange’s website at www.nyse.com, at the principal office of the Exchange, and at the Commission’s Public Reference Room.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, the self-regulatory organization included statements concerning the purpose of, and basis for, the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of those statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The Exchange has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant parts of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and the Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

The Exchange proposes to amend the Fee Schedule to temporarily decrease the ORF from $0.0038 per contract to $0.0023 per contract, effective July 16, 2025.⁴

Background

As a general matter, the Exchange may only use regulatory funds such as the ORF “to fund the legal, regulatory, and surveillance operations” of the Exchange.⁵ More specifically, the ORF is designed to recover a material portion, but not all, of the Exchange’s costs for the supervision and regulation of ATP Holders, including the Exchange’s regulatory program and legal expenses associated with options regulation, such as the costs related to in-house staff, third-party service providers, and technology that facilitate regulatory functions such as surveillance, investigation, examinations, and enforcement (collectively, the “ORF Costs”). ORF funds may also be used for indirect expenses such as human resources and other administrative costs. The Exchange monitors the amount of revenue collected from the ORF to ensure that this revenue, in combination with other regulatory fees and fines, does not exceed regulatory costs.

⁴ On July 1, 2025, the Exchange filed to amend the Fee Schedule (NYSEAMER-2025-39) and withdrew such filing on July 16, 2025.

⁵ The Exchange considers surveillance operations part of regulatory operations. The limitation on the use of regulatory funds also provides that they shall not be distributed. See Thirteenth Amended and Restated Operating Agreement of NYSE American LLC, Article IV, Section 4.05 and Securities Exchange Act Release No. 87993 (January 16, 2020), 85 FR 4050 (January 23, 2020) (SR-NYSEAMER-2020-04).

The ORF is assessed on ATP Holders for options transactions that are cleared by the ATP Holder through the Options Clearing Corporation (“OCC”) in the Customer range regardless of the exchange on which the transaction occurs and is collected from ATP Holder clearing firms by the OCC on behalf of NYSE American.⁶ All options transactions must clear via a clearing firm and such clearing firms can then choose to pass through all, a portion, or none of the cost of the ORF to its customers, i.e., the entering firms. The Exchange notes that the costs relating to monitoring ATP Holders with respect to Customer trading activity are generally higher than the costs associated with monitoring ATP Holders that do not engage in Customer trading activity, which tends to be more automated and less labor-intensive. By contrast, regulating ATP Holders that engage in Customer trading activity is generally more labor intensive and requires a greater expenditure of human and technical resources as the Exchange needs to review not only the trading activity on behalf of Customers, but also the ATP Holder’s relationship with its Customers via more labor-intensive exam-based programs.⁷ As a result, the costs associated with administering the customer component of the Exchange’s overall regulatory program are materially higher than the costs associated with administering the non-customer component (e.g., ATP Holder proprietary transactions) of its regulatory program.

⁷ The Exchange notes that many of the Exchange’s market surveillance programs require the Exchange to look at and evaluate activity across all options markets, such as surveillance for position limit violations, manipulation, front-running, and contrary exercise advice violations/expiring exercise declarations. The Exchange and other options SROs are parties to a 17d-2 agreement allocating among the SROs regulatory responsibilities relating to compliance by the common members with rules for expiring exercise declarations, position limits, OCC trade adjustments, and Large Option Position Report reviews. See, e.g., Securities Exchange Act Release No. 85097 (February 11, 2019), 84 FR 4871 (February 19, 2019).

Because the ORF is based on options transactions volume, the amount of ORF collected is variable. For example, if options transactions reported to OCC in a given month increase, the ORF collected from ATP Holders will likely increase as well. Similarly, if options transactions reported to OCC in a given month decrease, the ORF collected from ATP Holders will likely decrease as well. Accordingly, the Exchange monitors the amount of ORF collected to ensure that it does not exceed a material portion of ORF Costs. If the Exchange determines the amount of ORF collected exceeds or may exceed a material portion of ORF Costs, the Exchange will, as appropriate, adjust the ORF by submitting a fee change filing to the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “Commission”). Exchange rules establish that market participants must be notified of any change in the ORF via Trader Update at least 30 calendar days prior to the effective date of the change.⁸

Proposed Rule Change

Based on the Exchange’s recent review of regulatory costs, ORF collections, and options transaction volume, the Exchange proposes to temporarily decrease the amount of ORF collected from $0.0038 per contract to $0.0023 per contract, effective July 1, 2025.⁹ This proposed decrease will help ensure that the amount collected from the ORF, in combination with other regulatory fees and fines, does not exceed the Exchange’s total regulatory costs. On May 30, 2025, the Exchange notified ATP Holders of the proposed change via Trader Update (i.e., at least 30 calendar days prior to the July 1st operative date) to afford market participants sufficient opportunity to configure their systems to account properly for the modified ORF.¹⁰

⁸ See Fee Schedule, supra note 6.

⁹ The Exchange proposes to have an automatic sunset of the proposed fee on December 31, 2025. See proposed Fee Schedule, Section VII.A., Options Regulatory Fee (“ORF”).

¹⁰ See <https://www.nyse.com/trader-update/history#110000949347>.

The proposed change to the ORF is based on the Exchange's analysis of recent options volumes and its regulatory costs. The Exchange believes that, if the ORF is not adjusted, the ORF revenue to the Exchange year over year could exceed a material portion of the Exchange's ORF Costs. Over the past few years, the options industry has experienced high options trading volumes and volatility and, although the Exchange waived the ORF for the last two months of 2024,¹¹ the persisting increased options volumes have impacted the Exchange's ORF collection.

The table below reflects industry data from OCC and illustrates that both total average daily volume and customer average daily volume in 2025 increased over the already elevated levels in 2023 and 2024.¹²

	2023	2024	2025 YTD
Customer ADV	35,327,417	39,365,049	46,831,086
Total ADV	40,368,590	44,360,426	53,043,204

In addition, as shown in the table below, during 2025, options trading volumes have remained elevated and volatility has persisted.¹³

	Jan. 2025	Feb. 2025	Mar. 2025	Apr. 2025	May 2025
Customer ADV	46,758,284	48,508,333	46,281,134	47,786,196	46,234,519

¹² The OCC publishes options and futures volume in a variety of formats, including daily and monthly volume by exchange, available here: <https://www.theocc.com/Market-Data/Market-Data-Reports/Volume-and-Open-Interest/Monthly-Weekly-Volume-Statistics>. The volume discussed in this filing is based on a compilation of OCC data for monthly volume of equity-based options and monthly volume of ETF-based options, in contract sides.

¹³ See id.

Because of the sustained impact of the trading volumes that have persisted through mid-2025, along with the difficulty of predicting whether and when volumes may return to historical levels, the Exchange proposes to temporarily decrease the ORF from July 1 through December 31, 2025, to help ensure that ORF collection will not exceed ORF Costs for 2025.¹⁴ The Exchange cannot predict whether options volumes will remain at these levels going forward and projections for future regulatory costs are estimated, preliminary, and may change. However, the Exchange believes that the proposed change to the ORF would allow the Exchange to continue to monitor the amount collected from the ORF to help ensure that ORF collection, in combination with other regulatory fees and fines, does not exceed regulatory costs for 2025.

Potential ORF Reform

The Exchange appreciates the evolving changes in the markets and regulatory environment and, in connection with industry and other feedback, has been evaluating the current methodologies and practices for the assessment and collection of ORF. The Exchange believes ORF reform is appropriate, including moving to a model in which ORF would be assessed only to transactions occurring on the Exchange. This would allow for consistent industry billing. The Exchange is committed to switching to a new, modified model as soon as a consistent framework has been established with the SEC, adopted by all the options exchanges, and necessary regulatory filings submitted. Until that time, the Exchange believes it is fair and reasonable to temporarily decrease the current ORF under the existing model.

The Exchange also believes that the potential for ORF reform provides further support for the sunset provision included in this proposal because it will allow the Exchange to discuss

its anticipated, or potential alternative, ORF methodology with ATP Holders between July 1 and December 31, 2025 (i.e., the sunset date).¹⁵

2. Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 6(b)¹⁶ of the Act, in general, and Section 6(b)(4) and (5)¹⁷ of the Act, in particular, in that it is designed to provide for the equitable allocation of reasonable dues, fees, and other charges among its members and other persons using its facilities and does not unfairly discriminate between customers, issuers, brokers, or dealers.

The Proposal is Reasonable

The Exchange believes the proposed rule change is reasonable because it would help ensure that collections from the ORF do not exceed a material portion of the Exchange's ORF Costs. As noted above, the ORF is designed to recover a material portion, but not all, of the Exchange's ORF Costs.

Although there can be no assurance that the Exchange's final costs for 2025 will not differ materially from its expectations and prior practice, nor can the Exchange predict with certainty whether options volume will remain at current or similar levels going forward, the Exchange believes that the amount collected based on the current ORF rate, when combined with regulatory fees and fines, may result in collections in excess of the estimated ORF Costs for the year. Particularly, as noted above, the options market has continued to experience elevated volumes and volatility in 2025, thereby resulting in higher ORF collections than projected. The ¹⁵ The Exchange notes that the existence of the proposed sunset date would not preclude the Exchange from filing to modify its ORF methodology prior to that date.

¹⁶ 15 U.S.C. 78f(b).

¹⁷ 15 U.S.C. 78f(b)(4) and (5).

Exchange therefore believes that the proposed temporary decrease to the ORF is reasonable because it would help ensure that ORF collection does not exceed the ORF Costs for 2025. Particularly, the Exchange believes that this temporary reduction in the ORF, taken together with the Exchange's other regulatory fees and fines, would allow the Exchange to continue covering a material portion of ORF Costs, while lessening the potential for generating excess funds that may otherwise occur using the current rate. Per the sunset provision, the Exchange proposes to resume assessing its current ORF (i.e., $0.0038 per contract) after December 31, 2025. The Exchange believes that resumption of the ORF at the current rate on January 1, 2026 (unless the Exchange determines it necessary to adjust the ORF rate to help ensure that ORF collections do not exceed ORF Costs) is reasonable because it would permit the Exchange to resume collecting an ORF that is designed to recover a material portion, but not all, of the Exchange's projected ORF Costs. The Exchange's proposal to revert to its current ORF rate after December 31, 2025 is based on the Exchange's estimated projections for its regulatory costs, which are currently projected to increase in 2026, balanced with the increase in options volumes that has persisted into 2025 and that may continue into 2026.

The Exchange will continue to monitor ORF Costs in advance of the sunset date (i.e., December 31, 2025) and, if necessary, based on projected volumes and ORF Costs, will adjust the ORF rate to help ensure that ORF collections would not exceed a material portion of ORF Costs, adjust the ORF by submitting a proposed rule change and notifying ATP Holders of such change by Trader Update.

The Proposal is an Equitable Allocation of Fees

The Exchange believes its proposal is an equitable allocation of fees among its market participants. The Exchange believes that the proposed rule change would not place certain market participants at an unfair disadvantage because it would apply equally to all ATP Holders on all their transactions that clear in the Customer range at the OCC and would allow the Exchange to continue to monitor the amount collected from the ORF to help ensure that ORF collection, in combination with other regulatory fees and fines, does not exceed regulatory costs. The Exchange also believes that reverting to the existing ORF after December 31, 2025, unless the Exchange determines it necessary to adjust the ORF to ensure that ORF collections do not exceed a material portion of ORF Costs, is equitable because the ORF would continue to apply equally to all ATP Holders on options transactions in the Customer range, at a rate designed to recover a material portion, but not all, of the Exchange's projected ORF Costs, based on current projections that such costs will increase in 2026.

The Proposed Fee is Not Unfairly Discriminatory

The Exchange believes that the proposal is not unfairly discriminatory. The Exchange believes that the proposed temporary decrease to the ORF rate would not place certain market participants at an unfair disadvantage because it would apply to all ATP Holders subject to the ORF and would allow the Exchange to continue to monitor the amount collected from the ORF to help ensure that ORF collection, in combination with other regulatory fees and fines, does not exceed regulatory costs. The Exchange also has provided all such ATP Holders with 30 days' advance notice of the planned change to the ORF. Further, the Exchange believes that reverting to the existing ORF after December 31, 2025 (i.e., the sunset date), unless the Exchange determines it necessary to adjust the ORF to ensure that ORF collections do not exceed a material portion of ORF Costs, is not unfairly discriminatory because the Exchange would resume assessing the ORF (at its current rate) equally to all ATP Holders based on their transactions that clear in the Customer range at the OCC.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

Intramarket Competition. The Exchange believes the proposed change would not impose an undue burden on intramarket competition because the ORF is charged to all ATP Holders on all their transactions that clear in the Customer range at the OCC; thus, the amount of ORF imposed is based on the amount of Customer volume transacted. The Exchange believes that the proposed temporary decrease of the ORF would not place certain market participants at an unfair disadvantage because all options transactions must clear via a clearing firm. Such clearing firms can then choose to pass through all, a portion, or none of the cost of the ORF to its customers, i.e., the entering firms. The ORF is collected from ATP Holder clearing firms by the OCC on behalf of the Exchange and is assessed on all options transactions cleared at the OCC in the Customer range.

The Exchange also believes that reverting to the existing ORF after December 31, 2025 (i.e., the sunset date) -- unless the Exchange determines it necessary at that time to adjust the ORF to ensure that ORF collections do not exceed a material portion of ORF Costs -- would not impose an undue burden on competition because it would permit the Exchange to resume assessing an ORF that is designed to recover a material portion, but not all, of the Exchange's projected ORF Costs, based on current projections that such costs will increase in 2026. As is the case today, the proposed reduced ORF rate would apply to all ATP Holders on their options transactions that clear in the Customer range at the OCC, which rate will automatically revert to the current ORF rate after December 31, 2025.

Intermarket Competition. The proposed fee change is not designed to address any competitive issues. Rather, the proposed change is designed to help the Exchange adequately fund its regulatory activities while seeking to ensure that total collections from regulatory fees do not exceed total regulatory costs.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received from Members, Participants, or Others

No written comments were solicited or received with respect to the proposed rule change.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(ii) of the Act,¹⁸ and Rule 19b-4(f)(2) thereunder¹⁹ the Exchange has designated this proposal as establishing or changing a due, fee, or other charge imposed on any person, whether or not the person is a member of the self-regulatory organization, which renders the proposed rule change effective upon filing. At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

IV. Solicitation of Comments

NYSE AMERICAN OPTIONS FEE SCHEDULE*

*NYSE American Options is the options trading facility of NYSE American LLC

Effective as of July [8]16, 2025

Section VII. Regulatory Fees

- A. Options Regulatory Fee (“ORF”). The ORF will be assessed to each ATP Holder for all options transactions that are cleared by the ATP Holder through the OCC in the customer range regardless of the exchange on which the transaction occurs. The Exchange uses reports from OCC when assessing and collecting the ORF. The ORF is not assessed on outbound linkage trades. The fee is collected from ATP Holder clearing firms by the OCC on behalf of NYSE American. An ATP Holder shall not be assessed the fee until it has satisfied applicable technological requirements necessary to commence operations on NYSE American. The Exchange will notify participants via a Trader Update of any change in the amount of the fee at least 30 calendar days prior to the effective date of the change.
