

Date: February 25, 2016
Audience: NYSE, NYSE MKT and NYSE Arca Traders and Technical Representatives
Subject: NYSE Pillar: Symbol Migration Update

Beginning tomorrow, Friday, February 26, 2016 all production symbols on NYSE Arca will move back to the UTP trading platform. NYSE Pillar will trade only test symbols from February 26 through March 7, 2016 and the migration of production symbols to NYSE Pillar will resume on March 8, 2016. We will continue to offer multiple testing opportunities for clients as listed below.

Weekend Industry Test

An industry test will be offered for customers to interact with the NYSE Pillar production environment via their production UGW connections on February 27, 2016.

Firms should register by contacting connectivity@nyse.com. Test scripts will be distributed at registration.

Production Environment

The NYSE Pillar environment will remain available on a daily basis during normal production hours. Customers are able to interact with the NYSE Pillar environment via existing NYSE Arca UGW FIX and Binary gateways to conduct functional testing with the below test symbols. Interaction with production symbols and the ability to perform capacity testing is not supported in this environment. Any quote or trade activity that occurs in this environment will be published to our proprietary market data feeds. Test symbols are now included in daily referential market data messages.

Certification Testing

The NYSE Pillar Certification environment is available Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday between 4am and 8pm ET with live support available from 9am until 5pm ET. The cert environment will support:

- Orders through UGW FIX and Binary gateways only
- All Phase 1 Pillar supported order types
- Outbound market data via XDP and test NMS
- Clearing contract output through test DTCC

Contact firmtesting@nyse.com to request new IP addresses for NYSE Pillar cert.

Functional Differences

As a reminder, as symbols migrate to NYSE Pillar, there will be changes to trading logic, including auctions and order type behavior. Clarifications have been made to the Market Peg and the Repricing Logic sections. The link below provides details of each change:
